I wanted to do the concept of a farm experiment on Mars after watching the movie 'the Martian'. So basically, I took the concept of a farm that I did in the previous project, but it's an experiment that all the materials that aren't real farms are doing on Mars. So there's a laboratory on one side, and when you pass through it, you have a similar environment to whether people can live in. But since this is Mars, there is no one, and the character is alone.
